prisingly small show of resistance by the Germans. The reserves are now at work consolidating the gains that and cemented themselves into what heretofore had been regarded as one of the most impregnable portions of heir western lines.

Declaring the object of the Somme offensive was to attack on a fiftymile line, so militans of men might be employed, the Dally News to-day says, editorially:

"The adventure (on July 1) was reand right, but the left limb of the movement suffered a serious check, The time has not come when we can profitably discuss the cause of this, although it is known that those was ended and would do so, even in came the event of an election, if his party ere returned to power.

The break between Gen. Hughes and Premier Borden resulted from differences over questions of policy and details of administration. One of these had to do with the supplying of the Canadian forces with the British army rifle. Hughes, it is reported, advocated instead the use of Canadian weapon.

It is taken as a striking coincidence that the arrival of the Duke of Devonshire as Governor General of Canada should be marked by the resignation of Hughes, under whose administration as Minister of Militia Canada has raised 400,000 men for overseas military service.

Hughes was appointed Minister of Militia in 1911. Last year he was knighted by King George. His resig-nation was demanded at that time in connection with war contracts awarded to American companies. He de-manded an investigation, which re-sulted in his exoneration by a royal
